EXPERIENCE

Alejandro Domínguez W.S.
President of CONMEBOL

The Fiesta CONMEBOL Evolución embodies our mission to build the future of South American football from the ground up, creating opportunities for boys and girls to develop their talent, train, and reach their full potential.

This eighth edition brings together 700 young footballers, selected from over 40,000 participants across our ten Member Associations. Reaching this point is the culmination of a journey of effort, commitment, and learning that transforms each participant into a true winner. Evolution means improvement. It means developing through playing football and making its values and rules a part of life. It means learning to work as a team, respect your opponent, and compete with heart. That's why we promote this Fiesta and offer its champions the opportunity to compete in Madrid, representing their clubs, their countries, and the history of South American football.

CONMEBOL Evolución was a pioneering initiative and today serves as an inspiration for FIFA to launch a similar experience. This demonstrates that South America has once again led the way and that sharing good ideas to grow together is also a way of evolving.

We invite our young footballers to enjoy themselves, learn, and compete with respect. You represent the present and the future of the best football in the world.

The Fiesta CONMEBOL Evolución is a unique experience worldwide, highly relevant to the development of South American football, not only because of what happens here in Paraguay, but also because of the entire qualifying process, the work carried out by our 10 Member Associations, where more than 2,000 clubs and teams compete to reach this point. It is a journey that begins much earlier, in the local championships of each country, and culminates in this grand celebration.

This experience, now in its eighth year, allows us to continue promoting and improving our festival and making it better each year, implementing actions and innovations that focus on learning for boys and girls, both on and off the field.

They all experience the values of respect, inclusion, and passion for football found in the camaraderie and cultural exchange between different countries. Football demands a great deal of responsibility to reach the professional level. Considering the thousands of children and young people who have participated over these eight years, it is essential that this experience also provides them with all kinds of lessons that allow them to Believe Big.

Through our commitment to South American football, we want to promote values that will last a lifetime, values that are not only essential for sports but for life itself. We want to contribute our small part so that they also know how to navigate their growth and development in life.

Thank you very much.

Nery Pumpido
Development Director and Deputy
Secretary General of CONMEBOL

Enrique Cáceres

President of the CONMEBOL Referees Committee.

The evaluation of the refereeing innovations was very positive for the players who participated in the Fiesta CONMEBOL Evolución and also for Enrique Cáceres, who heads the Referees Committee.

How do you evaluate the rules and innovations implemented during this edition of the Fiesta CONMEBOL Evolución?

I evaluate them very positively. It is clear that the players and teams readily accepted these innovations and their implementation during the competition.

“Experiencing VAR from a young age transforms refereeing into a learning experience for players, coaching staff, and referees.”

We believe they contribute significantly to the development of the game and strengthen the tournament's operation.

“Sport is a platform for education, development and transformation.”

During the first days of the tournament, the players took part in a talk on inclusion led by political scientist Daniela Maturana.

What is the relevance of the Fiesta CONMEBOL Evolución to the development of youth football in South America?

The Fiesta CONMEBOL Evolución is a unique and pioneering festival worldwide. It represents CONMEBOL’s firm commitment to begin developing children and adolescents from an early age. Here, football skills are strengthened, along with the human values that sport fosters.

Football has achieved things that other political, cultural or social arenas have not. It brings countries and people together like no other sport and is therefore an extraordinary platform for embracing diversity.

Using sport as a vehicle for education is essential. We want great national teams and excellent footballers, but above all, people of integrity: leaders who do not discriminate and who respect and value diversity. We want the best players, but above all, the best human beings.

Daniela Maturana

Political scientist specializing in political communication.

TALK TESTIMONIALS

DIGITAL IDENTITY: LEARNING TO LIVE WITH TECHNOLOGY

Sol López

In charge of the talk on social networks and digital identity.

"As part of the training activities, participants reflected on the responsible use of social networks and the construction of their digital identity. The session addressed the opportunities that technology offers, as well as the risks that those who are at a decisive stage of their development must recognize."

SPORTS NUTRITION: THE IMPORTANCE OF HEALTHY GROWTH

Laura Rojas

In charge of the talk on nutrition and anthropometric studies.

"The development of children and adolescents rests on three pillars: training, nutrition—which also includes hydration—and rest. All three are equally important for promoting growth, health, and athletic performance. At these ages, good nutrition is key."

CPR: A TOOL THAT CAN SAVE LIVES

Blas Fernández

In charge of the first aid talk.

"Teaching first aid to children and adolescents means giving them a tool that can save lives. Cardiopulmonary arrest can happen at any time, so knowing the protocols allows for a quick and effective response in an emergency."

“The cognitive study represents a unique opportunity for coaching staff to access very valuable content.”

Israel Teoldo da Costa

CONMEBOL Instructor and football researcher who led the cognitive study.

During the Fiesta, Israel Teoldo da Costa led the cognitive study, which was conducted based on player participation and presented to the coaching staff.

How relevant are cognitive studies for coaching staff at this formative stage?

Intelligence and creativity develop over time, and we must be able to convey this information to the coaching staff so that the girls, boys, and players can benefit from methodologies that develop their cognitive abilities, allowing them to better read a match, play better, process information more efficiently, and develop different movements and technical solutions.

“My message is to make the most of these tools, because we are working with the best that currently exists in the world in terms of technology, methodology, and scientific advances that can provide crucial information to improve training methodologies and help players think creatively and intelligently.”

INTERVIEWS AND TESTIMONIALS

Voices that give meaning to the experience

Football icons, specialists, and key players share their perspectives on the educational value of the Fiesta CONMEBOL Evolución, its impact on new generations, and the lessons learned that transcend the competition.

The former Brazilian national team player took part in the activities of the Fiesta CONMEBOL Evolución.

What is the importance of the Fiesta CONMEBOL Evolución in the development and education of players?

It is very important to have tournaments like this for our young people because they represent one of the first steps they will take toward a bright future. In this process, we discuss fundamental values that they can carry with them throughout their football careers and personal lives.

This experience is very valuable for boys and girls, as well as for everyone involved. Players return to their clubs with a different mindset and begin to imagine themselves as part of their senior national team. They also return with very important values. Today, more than ever, they understand the value of respect.

THE VOICES OF THE PUBLIC ON YOUTUBE

Those who joined us virtually were also part of the celebration.

“Sport allows you to clear your mind, focus,
and learn things that will be useful for a lifetime.”

“The best part is that they can share with teams from other countries, have fun, and play what they love most: football.”

“This is a family. When there's friendship, there's teamwork, and the support being given to the clubs is very noticeable.”

“The camaraderie that develops among all the teams fosters a strong sense of belonging to South America.”

“Competing with children from other countries helps them raise their level and continue growing.”

The finals drew an average of 23,000 spectators, while each match was watched by over 8,000 people.

THE PRIZE

The International Experience

All participants arrive at the Fiesta after competing at local, regional, and national levels. The experience in Asunción is a central part of recognizing this journey.

In 2026, the top two teams in each category will travel to Madrid, Spain, to experience international competition.

The true value of the prize lies in competing, learning, and encountering other cultures, always with a focus on holistic development.
